New and important regulations for the disposal of coal mining rights, the property of the crown in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and the Yukon territory, and Dominion lands generally, have been promulgated and appears in the Canada Gazette. They provide that coal mining rights may be leased for 21 years at an annual rental of $10 per acre, payable in advance. No applicant shall be allowed to lease more than an area of 2,500 acres. No tract may be contiguous, and the area shall not exceed four miles in its greatest dimensions. Applications are made through the dominion lands agent or a sub-agent of the district. In unsurveyed territory the applications must be made in 30 days after being located. Where a dispute as to location occurs the right to the lease will be decided by the minister of the interior upon hearing evidence.

Coal mining leaseholds embracing any portion of a township must conform to the dominion lands system of survey. The lease shall include coal mining rights only but the lessee may upon application, be permitted to purchase at the rate of $10 per acre whatever the area of the available surface rights the minister may consider necessary for the efficient and economical working of the coal mine rights granted in the lease. The lessee must begin operations in one year from the date of his being notified to do so and shall produce the quantity of coal specified on such order. The order will not be given until the expiration of one year.

In no case will the maximum quantity required to be mined during each year be over 10 tons per acre leased. If this order is not complied with then the lease is subject to cancellation. The lessee cannot assign his rights without leave of the minister. Actual settlers shall be entitled to buy at the pit's mouth whatever coal they may require for their own use, but not for barter or sale at a price not to exceed $1.75 per ton, and the lease issued for coal rights shall be subject to such provision. A fee of $5 is charged for each lease.

In addition to the rent a royalty of five cents per ton of 2,000 pounds will be levied on the output of the mine. A sworn statement of the output must be given by the person operating the mine. In default of this the lease may be cancelled. In case of disputes provision is made for arbitration. The arbitrators will get $5 a day and traveling expenses. Under these regulations prepared by the minister of interior parties will be unable to hold coal for speculative purposes. They must be operated or become liable to cancellation.

People who love to talk—and most of us do—will hail Judge Russell of Nova Scotia as a Daniel come to judgement. He takes sharp issue with Carlyle's laudation of silence. "It is talk," says Judge Russell, "discussion by man with man over the dinner table—in the hotel rotunda—in the smoker of the Pullman—in the country store where the talker sits enthroned on a nail keg, while the auditors may be perched in the dull season along the counter—in the newspaper and popular magazines—in the parliament of the country—and from the various pulpits of the land, which shapes the course of public opinion and determines the destiny of a nation."

Judge Morson, of Toronto, in giving his decision on an appeal made by a restaurant keeper, who was convicted under the Lord's Day Act of selling fruit on Sunday, decided that fruit, ice cream, candies, ice cream sodas, etc., are foods and that the law permits all bona fide restaurant keepers to sell such food on Sunday, without assuming any responsibility, whether the stuff be eaten on or off the premises on which it is sold. Judge Morson, in rendering his decision, proved his liberality in the way of interpretation by quoting Lord Kenyon, "I am for the observance of the Sabbath, but not for a pharisaical observance of it."

We further wish to point out that the people who are flocking into the Northwest at the rate of twenty thousand a month are bona fide settlers. Some of the older residents do not settle as well, preferring to put their ready money into land speculation.—Toronto Star

The Gleichen Call

A CALL to the landless of the world to settle on the unoccupied, fertile irrigated lands of "Sunny Alberta" surrounding Gleichen, the heart and centre of these lands.

A CALL to the professional man, the artisan and the laborer to make his home in that Gleichen, which is certain to be one of the most prosperous towns in "Sunny Alberta".

A CALL to the capitalist and the investor to invest in a town and district, which will without any doubt repay his investments a hundred fold in the future.

A CALL to those in search of health—the greatest of all earthly blessings—to come to a Province becoming famous as a Land of Sunshine, neither enervatingly torrid nor frigidly arctic—a happy climatic medium.

A CALL to those now here to work for the interests of that Gleichen they have made their home, to work for its present interests and its future welfare; to work unselfishly and unflinchingly for its advancement and prosperity. To work and never rest content till "Our Town" reaches a higher and a higher and a still higher position, nor to cease their endeavors 'till at last she takes her place as one of the foremost cities in fertile, mineral-endowed, healthy, beautiful, Sunny Alberta.

S. M. DICKINSON.

THE VILLAGE EPITAPH

Sort o' jollied along
In th' friendliest way,
With a smile or a song
And a kind thing to say;
Never had a harsh word
If a fellow went wrong,
All th' good in you stirred
As he jollied along.

Sort o' easy and free
With a word of good cheer,
Kind o' helpful to me
And inspirin' to hear;
Didn't take it to heart
If a thing should go wrong,
Said he made it an art
Just to jolly along.

Put a flea in your ear
As he chanced to go by
With a voice full of cheer
And a wink of his eye;
If he reckoned you went
At a pace quite too strong,
But you knew what he meant
As he jollied along.

And th' clouds might be dear
Or the sky might be gray,
But he brought you good cheer
If he happened your way;
For he gave you a laugh
Or a snatch of a song
And your woes went like chaff
As he jollied along.

And I've missed him today—
Somethin' friendly an' sweet
Like a flower gone away
From our side of the street;
And they told me his smile
Was so sweet—and a song
On his lips all th' while
When he jollied along.
—J. W. Foley in New York Times.

Finding Many Stray Cattle

"The cattle losses amongst the ranchers south of the Cypress Hills is nothing like what was rumored earlier in the spring. The riders have been out for the last couple of weeks and report that the stockmen down in Montana have generously fed a great many of the strays which were known to have drifted across the border and were thought to have perished of cold and starvation. One rancher alone reports the recovery of eighty odd head which a friendly American cattleman fed all through the winter," says a report from Medicine Hat.

George Lane proprietor of the Bar U ranch who had about 30,000 head last fall, speaks very encouragingly of the situation. The reports of his sustaining heavy losses is wrong. For a great many years his losses averaged from 3 to 4 per cent which is an exceedingly low average. This year his losses will average about 12 per cent. Mr. Lane is buying cattle now which is very wise for cattle is bound to increase very much in value ere the end of this year.—High River Times.

SEEDINGSEASON

As if in harmony with the truth of the knowledge that cereals obtain the highest degrees of perfection when grown to maturity in high latitudes, it is contended by many who have intelligently and profitably followed farming and particularly wheat growing in western Canada, for over a quarter of a century, that the shortness of the germinating season not only does not necessarily operate against a good crop, but as a rule the best crops are obtained when the spring is not either exceptionally early or the seeding done at an early date in the spring.

This contention is substantially verified by Mr. J. J. Golden, deputy minister of agriculture of Manitoba, who has practical, personal and widespread knowledge of agricultural conditions for the last twenty-eight years in the west, and by the official records of the provincial department of agriculture.

The crop returns for the year 1900, one of the poorest years in the progress of western Canada, strikingly support Mr. Golden's confidence, and the assurance of western farmers of many years experience. In 1900 seeding in Manitoba was begun and carried on in the month of March, and practically completed early in April. In Alberta considerable seeding was done as early as February in that year. This was probably the earliest spring with the highest average temperature that the Canadian west has experienced since agriculture was the most important factor in its material existence. In 1900, however, was the poorest crop in its history, the average of wheat per acre being 8.9 bushels.

In the year 1881 seeding did not become general in Manitoba till about the first day of May, and a splendid average crop per acre was garnered.

In 1884 seeding began in the last of April, becoming general on the 29th, and an average of 20.11 bushels was obtained throughout Manitoba.

In 1886 seeding was exceptionally early, being general after April 1st, and the average wheat crop resulted in only 15.33 bushels per acre. Again in 1880 seeding was exceptionally early and the average was only 12.4 bushels per acre. In 1897 seeding was general from April 1 to April 20 and the average 14.14 bushels per acre.

The explanation of the confidence and sanguine expectations of those who have practical knowledge of western Canada grain growing, and who believe that the lateness of seeding operations this year in Manitoba will have little to do with the harvest results, is that their knowledge and experience have shown that two of the chief factors in the successful maturing of grain are almost invariably present after a late spring—sufficient moisture, which in seeding is often wasted, and the absence of stagnation is the growth of grain during what may be called a short season. In other words moisture and continuity of healthy growth, of which the continuous rapid growth of the hothouse is a parallel, are the important factors of grain growing in Manitoba, and the lateness of a season does not necessarily interfere with either.

At the present time there are 5,046,579 acres under cultivation in Manitoba. The number of acres ploughed last fall in Manitoba was 1,508,810 acres, the number of acres broke 184,144 and the number summer fallowed 780,985. If there was the same number of acres summer fallowed this year as last there would be 4,265,584 acres for crop this year.

The lateness of seeding is ominous, if ominous of anything, of good crop prospects, and the increased acreage under cultivation carries many assurances.—Winnipeg Telegram.

Living Beyond Their Means

It is beginning to appear as if many people in this western country are living beyond their income and counting the increase in value of their property to make up the deficit, while others are investing (probably in good speculations) money that should be added to the capital of their growing business or even to meet current expenses. Too frequently these speculations are a drain upon the finances at a time when they were expected to be a source of income, the payments must be kept up or the equity involved will be lost. To these causes we attribute the shortness of money noticeable at present. Times are not bad but overwhelmingly good; this country was never so prosperous, and the man who is not making money now may expect to go to the wall when this wave of prosperity ebbs. The man who fails to keep a safe path to the woods carefully tracked out is also unwise. If we mistake not, times are soon coming that will show which is cash and which is wind in the finance of this country.—Neepawa (Man.) Register.

A special effort should be made by the various householders of the town to improve their premises this spring. During the summer thousands of visitors will visit our town and it is very important that a good impression should be made by every legitimate means. Apart from the general improvement in the appearance of the streets all citizens should see to it that their lawns and gardens are well kept. There is much pleasure, to be obtained, we are told in a well kept garden aside from the enhanced appearance, there is a sanitary benefit which conduces very much to the health of the locality and of the town at large. If you are unfortunate enough not to have a garden we would suggest to offer assistance to a friend who has.—High River Times.

Services will be held in St. Andrew's church every Sunday evening, and on the second Sunday of each month services will be held in the morning at 11 o'clock, with the administration of the Holy Communion.

Father Lapine will conduct Roman Catholic services as follows. The 1st Sunday in each month at Mr. Desjardins', on Crowfoot creek; 2nd Sunday at Mr. Beaure's, in Gleichen; 3rd Sunday at Mr. T. Stewart's, at west Arrowood creek. Services are held every Sunday at the South Camp Mission, near Cluny.

Presbyterian Church service will be held in the School house next Sabbath evening at 7.30 p.m. to be conducted by the Rev. H. Fraser.
